TRAPPED IN RUSSIA AND TUNISIA

By WASH FAYETTE

Ah, rats!

Yes, 392 of them killed on one farm in just a year, with 95 of them bagged in the last two weeks.

This one comes from the Gale Parrett farm on the Jeffersonville road, six miles northwest of Washington C. H.

Gale started in on December 1, 1941 with a dog, a rifle and 40 steel traps, to rid his farm of rats.

Gale admits that the steel traps did most of the work, and in fact 17 of the rodents were trapped in a single night.

His dog accounted for several dozens of the destructive animals, and his rifle took its toll of the long-tailed, hungry rodents.

Regardless of the relentless war waged on the rats during the past year, Gale declares there are still many on his farm, and he is going to continue the warfare.

It seems that some of the rats are of unusual size, indicating that they have been faring well on Gale's corn, wheat, oats, and other farm products.

I am wondering if any other farmer is as "poison" to rats ("rough on rats") as Gale, his gun, dog and 40 steel traps!

You are going to miss those Christmas lights, garlands of smilax, southern laurel, cedar and pine used in street and store front decorations during the past few years.

It seems that one of the government agencies has frowned upon such decorations, to conserve electricity and to lessen dangers in case of air raid.

So far the consensus of opinion has been to forego the decorations so that the gaily-colored lights will not send forth their Christmas cheer this year.

Washington C. H. was the first city in central Ohio to put out a price list, in points, on various kinds of meat—maybe something like this:

Cut	Points per lb.
Hamburger	1
Porterhouse	8
Lamb Chops	3
Round Steak	4
Bacon	5

This illustration is strictly hypothetical, because the big question which officials haven't settled yet is the point values to be assigned different kinds of meat. The points represent the figures on the coupons. An A-1 or an S-1 is good for one point, a B-5 or a T-5 five points and so on. Two C-2's can be used for a 4-point purchase.

From this point on, you budget your points just like your money. While meat is expected to be the first commodity rationed with the new book, other things may be allotted with the same book.

P. S. You'll still have to pay real money, of course, as well as coupons.

KIND OF MONEY

New Book Is To Have Many Different Colored Coupons of Different Denominations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—You'll have to learn how to juggle a new kind of money soon to put meat on the table.

Disclosing a few more details of the meat rationing program scheduled for early next year, the Office of Price Administration explained some phases of the point rationing system which has been developed particularly for handling such commodities.

Shortly after New Year's, everyone will get war ration book No. 2. No. 1 was the sugar book which also is being used for coffee. Book No. 2 will contain 192 coupons of different colors, denominations and lettering.

These coupons are the coin of the new money system which Americans will have to master. Instead of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and halves, you'll have a red A-1 coupon, a red A-2 coupon, a red A-5 coupon, a red A-8 coupon, a red B-1 coupon, and so on, through the whole alphabet (except I and O), and then all over again for the blue coupons in the same book.

When meat rationing starts, OPA will assign certain letters for use the first month or period of weeks—perhaps red A, B and C for February, and then will put out a price list, in points, on various kinds of meat—maybe something like this:

U. S. HAS SECRET NEW PLANES

NOW UNDERGOING TESTS FOR

USE IN WAR, ENGINEERS SAY

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The United States has some secret new planes that are "enough to make the angels gasp," the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told today.

Major Nathaniel F. Silsbee of the Army Air Force explained in a paper prepared for a society meeting that a score of new fighters, bombers and transports were under test. Many, he said, already have been flown, but are still on the secret list.

In addition to the new designs, the air force has developed a method of making wholesale alterations in planes after manufacture.

This is done in places called modification centers, of which he said there are dozens. These centers make quick alterations demanded by battle conditions, such as, said Major Silsbee, installing different type guns, or refitting with a landing gear that will not crack up in desert fighting. They have painted planes a dusty pink for the Egyptian desert, and fitted others for arctic regions.

He said that the tail gun added to the Flying Fortress caught the Nips so by surprise that nearly 100 Japanese planes were downed before a single ship was able to get back to tell the others what was happening.

U.S. Navy Stronger

Than Before Start

Of War, Says Knox

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Viewing the war outlook as the brightest in three years, Secretary of Navy Knox disclosed today that Japanese casualties are believed five times greater than America's and that the United States Navy is larger and more powerful than "the day before Pearl Harbor."

Balancing the nation's books of war near the end of a year of fighting, Knox told the National Association of Manufacturers' convention in a prepared speech: "We have expended a lot of precious ships and material, but we have exacted a toll the enemy can ill afford."

The navy secretary asserted that while Japanese casualty figures could not be trusted even "if they were published," "The Japanese officers estimate that since Dec. 7, 1941 to Nov. 23, 'the Japanese in all theaters have lost in killed or permanently injured roughly 250,000 men.' Approximately 37,000, he said, are navy casualties or about 10 percent of the estimated Japanese naval personnel. United States naval losses, he said, are about one percent of the personnel strength and estimates of comparative loss and damage of ships and planes is "equally encouraging."

"We have a larger and more powerful navy measured in tonnage, air power or anything else," he added, "than the day before Pearl Harbor—or the day after Pearl Harbor. Production records have been broken on almost every type of craft and I might add that the navy uses more than 150 different types."

Turning to criticism of the war effort, Knox commented in a departure from his prepared text:

"The typewriter strategists reached an all-time high for inaccuracy when one columnist charged the navy with having

ACTOR DISMISSED

AS UNFIT FOR NAVY

Tony Martin Now Awaits Induction into Army

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dismissing for "unfitness" from the Navy with which he had served 11 months, singer-actor Tony Martin returned today to Los Angeles and the prospect of an immediate interview with his Beverly Hills draft board.

The 29-year-old radio and picture performer boarded a bus for the South at Oakland last night, dressed in the civilian clothes he had said he did not "want to walk around in."

Naval officials made clear the dismissal "doesn't carry any degradation" and should not be construed as a dishonorable discharge.

Last summer Lieut. Comdr. Maurice N. Aroff was court-martialed on various charges of falsehood and unofficerlike conduct, one of which was that, contrary to naval regulations, he accepted a $950 automobile as a gift from Martin for facilitating the singer's enlistment.

FARM PROBLEMS

McNutt Plan for Solution Of Labor Shortage Is Viewed with Alarm

By THOMAS A. REEDY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A threatened food shortage coupled with manpower problems on the farm brought from leaders of organized agriculture today a demand that the government's AAA program be abolished at least for the duration of the war.

Officials of the National Association of State Commissioners, secretaries and directors of agriculture, meeting here in a two-day convention, said they were drafting a resolution to that effect.

These leaders, who asked to remain anonymous, asserted that abolition of government control over food-growing at this time would be helpful in meeting the problems of the nation's 30,000,000 farm population.

Officials of the association arranged with Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) to put their opinions before Donald Nelson, director of the War Production Board, later today.

Indicative of the association's attitude was the statement of President R. A. Trovatten, of Minnesota, that "we are against controlled production and never have been for it."

Farmers were assured by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission last

LAKE TUG SUNK;

14 ARE DROWNED

Disaster Occurs as Blizzard Lashes Lake Erie—Barge In Grave Danger

CLEVELAND, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Fourteen men drowned before dawn today as the 89-foot tug Admiral, swept by strong, freezing winds, went down off Avon Point.

Officials of Cleveland Tankers, Inc., which operated the wood-hulled, 94-ton tug for Allied Oil Co., said at noon they had abandoned hope that any of the crew, under Capt. John O. Swanson of River Rouge, Mich., had survived.

Another 19 seamen aboard the oil barge Cleveco, commanded by Capt. William H. Smith of Cleveland, awaited rescue from their powerless 250-foot craft as coast guard cutters, tugs and civil air patrol fruitlessly searched the area for tug survivors.

The Cleveland Weather Bureau authorized a statement that strong winds and freezing weather swept Lake Erie at the time of the mishap.

Mussolini 'Comforts' Italians

With Promise of Aid by Hitler

LONDON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini struck back angrily today to Prime Minister Churchill's warning that the Italian people should sue for peace and said the Italians "will not be inferior to the British and Russians."

Reading extracts from Churchill's warning that Italy would be placed under "prolonged, scientific and shattering air attack," Mussolini said Churchill hoped to undermine the resistance of the Italian people.

"If this should happen the Italian nation would renounce forever its dream of being a great nation," the premier said.

Mussolini was heard coughing and breathing heavily as he delivered his speech to the Fascist chamber of corporations.

He promised that Germany would reinforce Italy with "powerful contributions" and said

"the joint Italian-German defenses will give the raiders a hot reception."

Women and children are being removed from Italian cities and towns to leave fighters "masters of the situation," Mussolini explained.

"If there is a man who ever diabolically wanted this war it is the president of the United States," he said.

JAPS STILL TRYING

MELBOURNE, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Japanese were attempting to reinforce their hard-pressed troops in the Buna-Gona area of New Guinea today as the Allied grip slowly closed on the enemy positions and latest reports received here said four Japanese destroyers were still heading for the island despite an attack by Allied bombers in which direct hits and near misses were scored.

Today's communique from Allied forces said that despite evident setbacks to the German air force, "both the German land and air forces are still fighting hard and making no effort to pull out."

The Italian high command vaguely reported Axis gains in armored force clashes in Tunisia. The German communique similarly reported that the Allies had been thrown back by Axis counter-attacks at several points. It said nine tanks were destroyed, eight British planes shot down and Allied paratroopers dispersed.

In Libya, meanwhile, both sides indicated that preparations were afoot by the Eighth Army to try to crash through the Nazis' El Aghela position.

American and French troops were reported today to have crossed the Tunisian coastal road north of Gabes, denying to Axis troops access by land to the Libyan base at Tripoli, as British and American planes poured a devastating flood of bombs on the main Axis strongholds of Bizerte and Tunis.

The Morocco radio reported the breakthrough to the coast in the south was somewhere between Sfax and Gabes, both places still in Axis hands.

LAVAL TIGHTENING

NAZI COLLABORATION

New Cabinet Planned To Get More Aid for Hitler

BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Negotiations are underway in Vichy and Paris to create a new cabinet under Pierre Laval which would be the instrument to carry out Germany's plans for continental France, sources in close touch with Vichy said today.

A new army of accepted Nazi tenets, and direct military collaboration in the campaign against the Allies in North Africa are fundamental points in these plans, it was said, with Germany expecting to gain the advantages of more direct access to French armament, food production, and a greater measure of security for Axis troops in France.

Darlan Maneuvering Into Position of More Power; Suspicion Increases

By ROGER D. GREENE

Adolf Hitler was reported withdrawing at least part of his armies from the bloody 100-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, while on the shores of ancient Tunisia the Allies cut off the vital Axis "escape corridor" to Tripoli.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star said Stalingrad's defenders, folding back the weakening German siege lines, had recaptured a dominating hill on the southern side of the Volga metropolis and pushed out from two to five miles from the hill.

On the Tunisian front, German headquarters asserted that counter-attacking Axis troops "threw the enemy out of several villages" yesterday and dispersed Allied paratroopers.

An Italian communique said Axis forces gained ground against Allied armored units and captured "some dozens" of Allied prisoners.

Significantly, neither Rome nor Berlin gave the scene of the action and again failed to mention that the key Axis strongholds of Bizerte and Tunis were virtually under siege and cut off from retreat.

An Allied headquarters spokesman said that despite evident setbacks to the German air force, "both the German land and air forces are still fighting hard and making no effort to pull out."

TOWN MEETING' IDEA URGED BY DR. R. M. HUGHEY

Nationwide Movement Is Envisioned To Inform Congressmen

In a dramatic appeal for the people of Fayette County who are asking "what can we do to help this war effort?" to borrow a leaf from the history of the past when a little band of crusaders meeting in Washington C. H. over 50 years ago started a movement which became nationwide in scope, now to start a new movement for "town hall meetings" for free and frank discussion of our problems of the day with a view to helping to bring a successful conclusion to the war at the earliest possible moment, Dr. R. M. Hughey held the serious and thoughtful attention of the Rotary Club for three quarters of an hour at the club luncheon Tuesday noon at the Country Club.

On the program for a talk on "Rotary Club History and Rotary Opportunity and Duty Today," Dr. Hughey spoke briefly of the club's organization here more than two decades ago and of several outstanding accomplishments for which the club deserved credit. He then launched into a subject which he said had been on his mind and heart for many months—the failure of this club and other organizations of this community, as well as other groups and citizens individually, to do something constructive as a real aid to the nation. He said that he recognized that members of the Rotary Club and other good citizens, in most cases, were doing what they considered their share of bond buying, community service, and war work, but that this and other communities had been failing to do the one thing which might mean the actual preservation of democracy.

The speaker declared that our leaders at Washington were responsible to all of us as citizens. "We are the government," he said, "and our failure to let the men in Washington know what we are actually thinking and wherein changes could be made to rid our war effort and our government of sabotaging waste, and the misuse of the principles of democracy entrusted to their temporary care, is becoming an appalling thing." Personal criticism and individual grumbling gets us nowhere, Dr. Hughey asserted, "for our chosen leaders, and our own congressmen, seldom hear from us and these men, caught in the swirl of Washington D. C. politics, economic intrigue and pressure groups, cannot be sure what the predominant sentiment of the folks back home really is."

The speaker took occasion to declare that "this war cannot be won on a 40 hour week basis" and that "so called preservation of our social gains must not be placed above the immediate national patriotic endeavor to end this work victoriously and as quickly as possible. If the boys we are sending out to give years of their lives, perhaps life itself, in protecting us, are not to be betrayed by communistic ideas and selfish designs which are being thrust down our throats by some misguided so-called leaders, we the people must make our opinions known. If democracy is to be a failure in war time it cannot successfully survive in peacetime."

Dr. Hughey, with great emphasis, criticized people in this and other communities who have not felt the real terror of war, for sitting around food laden tables and refusing to do anything or say anything on the complacent theory that "there isn't anything we can do about it."

"There is something we can do about it," shouted the spirited speaker, "we can get together and let our leaders at Washington know about a great many things which we object to, but by our silence we give them the impression that what they are doing is with our approval."

He spoke with critical intensity of the present agricultural policy, of regimentation of farmers, by paying subsidies for not raising produce when the world will be crying for all the food we can raise in the next two or three years. "And incidentally," he said, "if the farmer insisted on an eight hour day or 40 hour week, this country itself would soon starve."

"This is a time for men and women of courage to let themselves be heard and our leaders will respond because, after all, they are quite willing to listen when the people unmistakably make themselves heard," said Dr. Hughey, who ended his talk with a plea that he hoped some movement of the "town hall meeting" type could be started here which could spread to other communities, where men and women would discuss frankly and freely their ideas of

PEARL HARBOR ANNIVERSARY

A two-day nation-wide observance of the attack on Pearl Harbor will be sponsored by the Office of War Information. Joining in the observance will be the War and Navy Departments, all other war agencies, war plants, labor, schools, colleges and numerous other organizations.

The anniversary will be observed Sunday, December 6 and Monday, December 7, wherever there are Americans around the world. The inclusion of Sunday is doubly fortunate, both because the original attack fell on a Sunday and because the tone and religious ceremonies of the Sabbath are in keeping with the spirit of rededication to a high purpose which will characterize this anniversary.

The OWI proposes that the nation, under the cry of "Remember Pearl Harbor — Work . . . Fight . . . Sacrifice!" will:

Honor and remember the men and women who have already given their lives in this struggle.

Give thanks to God for the nation's survival of the unprovoked attack of ruthless enemies.

Clear-headedly assess what has been done in one year of war, and what lies ahead to be done in terms of "Work . . . Fight . . . Sacrifice."

Rededicate the nation's strength, its time, its wealth and its very life to preserving a concept of life more precious than individual life itself; to work, fight, sacrifice for all that is contained in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States of America.

The OWI proposes that Sunday be dedicated to solemn memorial for those who died at Pearl Harbor and those who have died since, to thanksgiving for our survival during the first critical year of the war, and to rededication of all our resources to the spiritual values which are at stake in this war.

It is proposed that the rallying cry "Work . . . Fight . . . Sacrifice!" be sounded on Monday and that national rededication be in that key. These words must surely bring to every man and woman a realization that this is a war that touches all of us, personally and intimately. It is a part of the observance of the anniversary of Pearl Harbor that all of us should take stock, both of the material achievements and shortcomings of our war effort during the past year and of our spiritual attitude toward the essential values of national and international life.

The hour of the Pearl Harbor attack 2:20 P. M., E. W. T.) December 7, will be specially marked, but no ceremony should delay war production.

Washington at a Glance

WASHINGTON —From Greenland's icy mountains down to and including Tierra del Fuego's flock of volcanic peaks, our western hemisphere seems due to be a pretty closely-knit federation of locally separate but collectively very effectively tied — together countries — if Inter-American Coordinator Nelson A. Rockefeller's organization makes a go of its program, at which it is working strenuously while the war rages.

Our southern neighbors mainly are warmly favorable, in principle, to the alliance. Argentina, as we know, has been rather frosty, but it'll flop our way as soon as the tide turns unmistakably against the Axis. Inherently I don't think the Argentines overly like us. Still, they know which side their bread's buttered on, when it's conspicuously served to 'em that side up. It's a cinch they'd grab at it if we'd smear a little jam on top. Chile isn't anti-Yankee right now. It only wants our promise to protect its coast against Jap aviation raids.

Latins are unqualifiedly pro-Pan-American. Several of 'em are belligerently so. And Canada's hinting at a yearning toward inclusion in the Pan-American combination. This would give us, between the two big oceans, a pole-to-pole slice of the earthly melon.

It's a western hemispherical concept that's especially Rockefellerian.

There's another group that aims at a whole world union. It objects to having any hemispherical limits placed on it.

The western hemispherical answer is that world union didn't work before.

They don't believe that it would today, either.

The Rockefellerians, though, reckon that it would fill the bill, hemispherically managed.

What they recommend is the practical abandonment of Yankee soil production.

Our natural Yankee function, they say, is essentially manufacturing.

That's our genius, they assure us.

They agree that we have to do a little household gardening but they don't want us to monkey with gardening on a large scale.

Their philosophy is to turn over soil cultivation to Latin America and Canada, while we concentrate on factory output.

Finally on another visit he noted that the suspected huntsman had redecorated the inside of his log dwelling with bright new wall paper. There were suspicious bulges around the walls. When his host wasn't looking, Stalnaker scratched a hole in the paper. Underneath he found fresh deer hides nailed to the logs. The penalty—$100 and 90 days.

Today's birthday children are diplomatic, have excellent manners, are strongly ambitious, with high ideals. They are generous and sympathetic, but yielding in their condemnation of ill-doing. They should strive to be more tolerant and show more affection to their families. Varied fortunes will be experienced in the next 12 months. Gain will come through the military, engineering, aeronautics, legal and secret matters, it is foreseen. Domestic loss or disappointment are also heralded. Elders presage gain or loss. Fuel Rationing May Bring Health Hazards

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ANYONE READING my article yesterday on fuel rationing will understand that I do not regard low temperature as necessarily being a health hazard. Our homes and offices have been so overheated and kept so dry in the past few years that I believe this has dried out the mucous membranes of the nose and throat and induced colds rather than prevented them. Lower temperatures, with the body kept warm and the skin kept comfortable by added clothing, will probably be a gain rather than a loss.

Hazards do exist, however, especially with those who are changing over to older forms of heating, the details of which they may have forgotten. Probably the greatest hazard in changing over from fuel oil to other forms of heating will be the danger of setting the house on fire. There is an enormous death rate that is fairly steady, occurring naturally mostly in the winter, due to people being trapped in burning homes. A large proportion of these fires are traced to dirty, overheated stoves, furnaces, flues and pipes. Experienced men should inspect all heating apparatus and their recommendations for cleaning and repairing should be heeded.

Precautions Necessary

The average householder who has been using fuel oil may have forgotten some of the precautions he used to take when he was using coal in the furnace. A fire may be started from hot ashes carelessly placed in wood or other combustible containers or mixed with rubbish.

It seems superfluous to mention it, but there is still an enormous death rate among people who start or speed up a fire in the grate or stove by pouring on kerosene.

Open fireplaces in the United States have become more or less a thing of the past and the householder should be reminded that unless screened, these fires may be the cause of serious burns by set-

Embattled Love

BY LORENA CARLETON

SYNOPSIS
A chance meeting in the San Francisco fog leads to a spur-of-the-moment marriage in Reno by PAIGE SHELTON, whose sweetheart has just been killed fighting for the Allies, and RESTWICK (RUSTY) CARNES III, wealthy descendant of early Hawaiian settlers. Rusty marries to spite the girl he thinks he loves. EUGENIA NORTH, his selfish fiancée.

YESTERDAY, Back in San Francisco, Rusty and Paige are sitting in a hotel cocktail lounge when Rusty reveals that the thwarted Eugenia is in the room.

CHAPTER FIVE
COMPLETELY taken aback, Paige exclaimed, "You mean she is here in this room?"

"Yes. She's sitting over there in a lot of ruffles and spangles and plumes like a dressed-up Easter chicken."

"Paige's eyes followed the line made by Rusty's swizzle stick. And there was Eugenia. Watching with the same odd, expressionless gaze with which he was watching her. Almost as if the lashes were not blinking. But Eugenia lacked Restwick Carnes' control. Fury was evident in her clutch on the stem of a cocktail glass and one foot, visible in the slit-hem of her dinner gown, was tense, the toe pointed upward.

Paige's repetition of the vulgar but popular slang expression was descriptive. "She's mad enough to spit."

"Oh, no! I'd like to think so, but I'm afraid not." The girl beside him was going to call his attention to those signs of agitation that belied calm, but he went on talking. "Musing, rather. 'Lord, isn't she beautiful!'"

Paige's retort was scathing. "If you like the sickly, disheveled type. Some people do."

"You're darned right. Plenty of people do!" Rusty snapped without even looking away from his true love. "She's been painted by at least a half-dozen artists."

Paige cut in. "I can just hear them. She mocked. 'A perfect Renoir type. A pink and white and gold lady. Born to wear a rose.' And I'll bet she swallowed it."

The red-haired man was looking at Paige now. "Why, you jealous cat!"

"Jealous!" There was a sting in the girl's voice. "I should be jealous of someone with a chin like a scallop."

"What do you mean, a chin like a scallop?"

Paige's long black lashes knitted thoughtfully. "I don't know. Perhaps," she continued wickedly, "I really meant she had no chin at all." The lashes swept upward to bare a candid glance. "She is rather chinless, you know."

Trusting the red-haired man attacked Paige. "Simply because she hasn't a chin sticking out like a snow plow."

"She's still chinless, brother."

The clipped impudence of her reply silenced the man and brought an expression so near chagrin to his face that she burst into hysterical laughter. Eugenia chose that exact moment to head for their table. She left her escort, hinting conclusively with a rude push on his shoulder that she did not want him along.

Paige was still laughing when the blond girl paused beside Rusty. Pauses of laughter that were beginning to frighten because they were so near hysteria and because they refused to be silenced. It was all so silly, so uncontrollable. Right before her eyes Rusty and Eugenia were turning hazy. "It's as though I were drowning," thought Paige.

"Rusty," ordered Eugenia in a low, hoarse voice, "have you lost your mind? You are making a spectacle of yourself with this drunken woman."

Paige's laughter stopped as if it had been sliced. The feeling of guilt that had been rising within her since the wedding, that feeling of transgression on the heart of an unsuspecting girl, left her as quickly as her laughter. One look into the venomous eyes of the otherwise ethereal Eugenia took care of that. Rage, and rage only, would cut her when she learned that Rusty had married. Her heart would not be touched.

"Go back to your table. Eugenia, to watch the aggressive Eu-

D. A.'s 'Girl Friday' Got Job Hard Way

By DON WHITEHEAD

NEW YORK—Sooner or later something must be done about pert brown-haired Vicki Vola or else a large segment of our younger feminine generation is going to reach maturity with thwarted ambitions.

The reason is that Vicki has instilled in her young admirers a strong desire to be secretaries of district attorneys—and there just aren't enough DA's to go around.

Vicki has accomplished this even though she is not a district attorney's secretary, can't type any too well, couldn't read shorthand with the aid of a text book, and has been no nearer a real crime than the front page of her favorite newspaper.

Now, if you are sufficiently confused by this state of affairs, here's an explanation: Vicki plays the exciting role of Miss Miller, the secretary in the NBC-Red Network's Wednesday night radio thriller, "Mr. District Attorney." Naturally, she's efficient, quick-witted, soft-spoken, charming, tactful, and has a flair for sleuthing.

In fact, Vicki has glorified the job of secretary to the district attorney to a point where girls write to her from all parts of the country asking advice on how to become a DA's "Girl Friday."

This situation probably wouldn't have developed except that Vicki is an adventurous sort of person and didn't care particularly for life in Hollywood. Besides, she almost starved to death out there.

Vicki's career in theatricals started in her home town, Denver, where she played kid parts in school dramas.

One day she heard that a local radio station was giving auditions for a role in a serialized Biblical play and she won the role of Joseph's wife.

When the play was sold to a Hollywood mortician, Vicki went along with the series despite the fact that her mother, Mrs. Anthony Vola, didn't want her daughter traipsing around the country as an actress.

This job lasted for six months and Vicki did odd movie parts when and where she could get them.

"I got awfully tired of doughnuts and coffee," Vicki says. "In fact, I was plain hungry most of the time and finally decided to try to get to New York."

She bought a bus ticket to San Francisco and arrived with two dollars in her purse. Luckily she landed a job in a stock show and during the next year was able to save $300 for the New York invasion.

Apparently Vicki's apprenticeship in the art of slow starvation had come to an end, for she got a job three days after she got to town and has been working steadily since then.

Vicki credits some of her suc-genia. Rusty's lack of response was beginning to puzzle the latter girl. Too, she was eager for a sip of the untouched Manhattan and was wondering whether to maintain her two-handed clutch on the man's arm or relinquish it and reach for the inviting drink. The drink won.

Just as she took the first sip Paige giggled, outwardly this time. Nonplussed, Eugenia's deep brown eyes, so astonishing with her pale hair, swept toward Paige. Arrogance and open dislike were paired, as she scanned the black-haired girl's white features.

Swiftly her eyes left Paige and changed to twin caresses. "Rusty, darling, she's going to have another laughing jag."

Paige's face was suddenly sober and utterly disdainful. She began sliding around the table to leave the booth. "Excuse me, please."

Rusty said, "Stay where you are, Paige!" She obeyed without protest. The man turned to the girl on his other side and removed both her hands. "Eugenia, you are going to get the biggest surprise of your life."

Her bronze-tinted mouth curled in a confident smile. She had caught only the last word, "Surprise, Rusty?"

"Yes. Only it shouldn't be. I warned you."

His explanation meant nothing to the girl. She wasn't actually hearing him. Again she put her hands on his arm and again he pushed them aside. Absolute disbelief flared from her slightly pink face. She cast Paige a suspicious look.

"Rusty," she demanded abruptly, still watching the black-haired girl, "where were you last night?"

"In Reno," he said casually.

"How interesting. And you?" she asked Paige through thin bronze lips, "were you by an chance in Reno, too?"

"Your implication might bother me if—"

"Please, Paige!" Rusty turned his full attention to Eugenia. "Do you remember what I said the other night about marrying someone else?"

"That atrociously silly twaddle? Of course I remember it. Men always say something like that when they are angry."

Deliberately Paige moved so that she was directly within Eugenia's range of vision. The blond girl's eyes swept Paige's face, then lowered to the hand propped beneath her chin. It happened then. Rusty sensed nothing. It was a moment strictly between the two girls.

"I married Paige."

Eugenia got to her feet. "That," she taunted with cool unconcern, "is scarcely world tottering." For an instant she stood smiling down at Rusty, then the smile swept to Paige. "Nor is it necessarily permanent."

Reverend and Mrs. Carver Honored by Elaborate Reception Tuesday Night

With distinct beauty and pronounced perfection, the Deaconesses of the Church of Christ entertained with an elaborate reception on Monday evening honoring Rev. and Mrs. R. Byron Carver, the new pastor.

The dining room of the church was a perfect setting for the lovely affair, with one hundred guests welcoming the guests of honor. Forming the receiving line with Rev. and Mrs. Carver were Mr. and Mrs. Ursa Thornhill, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stookey, Mr. and Mrs. Minshall, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Irvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

A carefully and beautifully prepared selection of piano numbers were enjoyed during the evening, with the minister greeting each member personally.

The reception table was a dream of beauty in its elegant appointments. One long table was covered with a snowy white linen cloth, and was centered with an exquisite crystal water-garden filled profusely with bronze and yellow pompoms and tall, slender, arranged most artistically. Two single silver holders held tall cathedral tapers on either side, and their soft glow cast a pretty note to the loveliness. Vari-colored cookies and sandwiches, dainty confections and nuts in elegant silver trays and compotes were pretty notes. Miss Christine Switzer and Miss Phyllis Adkins presided at the silver tea and coffee urns on either end of the table.

The evening was whiled away in informal and congenial visiting, with most delightful pleasures afforded the guests, each seizing the opportunity to make the acquaintance of the honored guests.

The Buck Florist arranged the very lovely centerpiece.

Anti-Can't Class

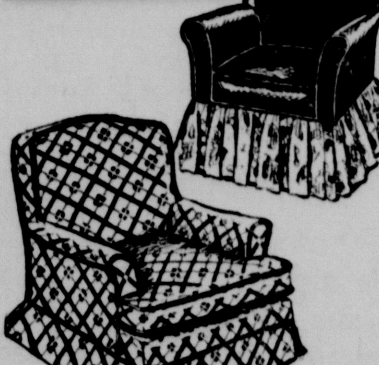

The November meeting of the Anti-Can't Class of the Staunton Church, was held recently in the school building.

A chicken supper of most delicious and seasonal viands launched the pleasurable evening, with an exceptionally gay hour enjoyed. This supper was given to the winners in a recent attendance contest.

Three hymns and the scripture reading by Miss Laura Mae Yahn opened the meeting, with Mrs. Mary Vince giving a very pretty prayer.

An evening of contests and games afforded a jolly time for the members who were Mrs. Jake Smith, Mrs. Mary Vince, Mrs. M. Fred Fouch, Misses Garland Mae Smith, Ethel Hidy, Mary Louise Kitchen, Mrs. Loren Kimmy, Misses Jean Kimmy, Mary Lou Wilson, Ludine Burnett, Laura Mae Yahn, Mrs. William Vince, and Daughter, Mary Edna. Mrs. E. Whiteside Gracious Hostess At Pretty Party

The Bloomingburg Kensington Club was indebted to Mrs. Elizabeth Whiteside for a most pleasurable afternoon Tuesday.

A clever contest promoted by Mrs. Clark Walston and Mrs. Cora Wilson, and the exchange of gifts were the outstanding features of the afternoon. The large dining room was festive with a Christmas tree and other yuletide decorations and the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ella LaFollette served a delicious collation to the club members and two guests, Mrs. Charles Gall of Springfield, and Mrs. Donald King.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Pretty Party

Complimenting a bridge club in which she has substituted on numerous occasions, Mrs. Glenn Rodgers was hostess to a pretty small party on Tuesday, and included Mrs. Frank S. Jackson and Mrs. Carl Mallow, as guests with the members of the club.

A luncheon of seasonal delicacies was served at one long table, handsomely appointed and centered with a bowl of luscious colored fruits.

The gay sociability of the luncheon hour was continued in the afternoon's bridge game, with attractive awards presented to Mrs. A. S. Stemler, Mrs. G. W. Inskeep and Mrs. Jackson.

At a late hour the guests were invited to the dining room where the table was candle lighted and decorated with tiny flags and place cards marking each guest's place, and appetizing refreshments were served.

Literature Dept. Presents Program At Browning

The Browning Club held its regular meeting in the Federated Club rooms Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. Essie Kelley, presided over the business session. It was reported that the club had purchased a health bond.

The program was in charge of Miss Golda Baughn, chairman of the Literature Department. Mrs. Faye Mayo gave an excellent paper on "Bryant and the Romance of Nature." She had visited the Bryant homestead in Massachusetts and gave an interesting description of it. Bryant's position in American Literature is similar to that of Wordsworth in English Literature. He has been fittingly called the American Wordsworth. Bryant wrote about 160 poems of which more than 100 have nature as a theme. He is our first nature poet, and in some aspects has never been surpassed by his countrymen. Mrs. Mayo read lovely excerpts from "Inscription for the Entrance to a Wood," "A Winter Piece," "To A Water-fowl," "The Forest Hymn," "Thanatopsis" and "The Future Life."

Mrs. Edythe Forsythe gave a thought provoking paper on "The Race Barrier." Americans must remodel their way of thinking. Civilization is a product of many races. Each race thinks itself superior, and each race is mistaken. Races must preserve their own identity but must be given an opportunity for education and vocation. The race question is a prominent one in India, Burma and China. The white race is not willing to give up its superiority, and the colored races are not willing to accept inferiority. The colonial way of life of the colored races is over.

Milledgeville WSCS

The Milledgeville Women's Society of the Christian Service held its November meeting at the lovely home of Mrs. Pauline Cannon.

Fourteen members were present with Mrs. Louise Rankin, the devotional leader. Concluding the business meeting was the election of officers for the coming year. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. Zella Thompson assisting.

Mrs. Ho Walker assisted by Mrs. R. E. Coil will have the next meeting December 30.

Evening Club

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cornwell entertained their bridge club for a pleasurable session on Monday evening, and included Mr. and Mrs. John Leland and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilson as guests with the members.

The very tempting and dainty dessert course was served at small tables, congenially arranged in the very attractive home.

The spirited bridge game, gallantly contested between the men and women, brought high score trophies to Mrs. Marvin Thornburg and Mr. Leland.

Remembering Pearl Harbor -

Remember This, Boys—

WE'VE COME A LONG WAY!

Buy Bonds--Go Farther and Harder!

It's no military secret that Pearl Harbor was a blow to America; but neither is it a military secret that this country has taken some long strides since December 7, 1941. What's that you say, Adolf, name three? We'll name nine without even batting an eyelash!

Take our armed forces, for instance . . . it wasn't long ago that ours was still a peacetime nation, and yet right now we have American Expeditionary Forces parked on every important Axis doorstep in the world. You know what we mean, Adolf . . . you've had a taste of their fury! Then there are the Solomon Islands, Hirohito! That's been quite a bottle, hasn't it? Too bad your boys didn't have the training our Marines did. Wait a minute, chum, don't run out! Remember the battle of Midway Island and Coral Sea? 'Nuff said!

Sure, we know you have submarines, boys. But that hasn't stopped our getting aid to China, and lots of it! And we don't have to tell you what a gallant job our Allies have been doing, do we? Your countries are plenty patched up as a result of their fighting.

Say, Adolf . . . ever hear of the Commandos? You may not have had a formal introduction, but you've had some very unpleasant experiences with these supermen. Point five in favor of the United Nations, and the score's mounting!

While we've been remembering Pearl Harbor, boys, we've been working, too. Building bombers . . . mighty flying fortresses that have bombed hell out of Europe. Or maybe you'd rather not be reminded. . .

Stop, pouting, Benito . . . we aren't forgetting you! You've been having a little trouble fighting our tanks in Africa, haven't you? We'll promise you something else, too. You'll have lots more trouble before we're through!

And then there's Russia. What a magnificent fight our comrades have put up at Stalingrad! Poor Adolf . . . we'll bet you're sorry you ever started that "push-over."

Just one more thing, boys. Production is up in America . . . 'WAY up! You see, our civilians are working and plugging and supporting the war effort willingly. They're making tanks and planes and ships . . . rolling them off the assembly lines by the thousands. That's American production, boys, and that's the way we remember Pearl Harbor!

Let's Make Our Threat To The Axis Even More Terrible By Increasing Production and Buying War Bonds!

Lion Basketeers are Settling into Routine Drill

The Blue Lion basketeers today were getting pretty well settled in the old routine of conditioning and polishing technique in preparation for the opening of the basketball season here at the WHS gymnasium on the evening of December 15.

The cage crew from Fairfield has been booked as the Lions' opposition for the season's curtain raiser. However, just what the hardwood extravaganza for which the Lions are now rehearsing will turn out to be remains somewhat conjectural because of the uncertainty which gasoline rationing, with its bus curtailment, shrouds the future.

Coach George Miraben and his assistant, Jerry Kissell, have just about finished with the preliminaries and now are settling their boys to the serious business of hard drill.

All during the last session the Lions concentrated mostly on passing and goal shooting with a little defensive and offensive work on the side to give the boys the right slant on the methods the two new coaches teach basketball.

Due to the registration for gasoline rationing in the gym, only half of the floor could be used to practice on, the other half was covered with tables and chairs.

Coach Miraben said "we will try to add two or three more games to our schedule to make it complete. Faculty Manager A. F. McCann has written to Chillicothe to try to get a game with its team. He also wrote to London to try to schedule a game, but so far there has been no answer from either school. Another game with Bexley has been sought for the Blue Lions.

but the Bexley boys won't be able to oblige because they are all filled up with C.B.L. (Central Buckeye League) games. The Lions played in the C.B.L. two years ago.

Coach Miraben said, "the boys are showing up pretty well but there are still a few spots that need ironing out and we expect to get that done this week."

Here is the practice schedule for this week.

Monday, 4 P. M.; Tuesday, 7 P. M.; Wednesday, 4 P. M.; Thursday, 7 P. M. and Friday, 7 P. M.

undecided.

Bucks and Fekete Set Big Ten Marks

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—(P)—Ohio State's Big Ten champions and Gene Fekete of the Buckeyes and Otto Graham of Northwestern showed the way for a severe shaking up of Western Conference and midwest grid records this season, the American football statistical bureau said today.

Ohio State rambled 3,975 yards in 10 contests for a new modern midwest total offense record of 397.5 yards per game, bettering the old mark for this section of 322.3 yards a game made by Detroit in 1940.

The Buckeyes also contributed a new rushing record, averaging 283.3 yards to surpass Minnesota's 1941 average of 257.8 yards.

Fekete established a Big Ten record for rushing by running for 910 yards, besting the 863 total of Michigan's Tom Harmon made in 1939.

The Ohio State fullback also kicked 29 out of 39 conversion attempts which exceeded the 19 out of 28 booted by Harmon in 1940.

Graham failed by 29 yards to better the Big Ten all-time total offense mark of 1,356 yards set by Harmon in 1939, but he did achieve a new record in passing with 89 completions in 182 tries for 1,092 yards.

Wisconsin's Dave Schreiner caught 18 passes this year for 386 yards, a new conference distance high, only to have Ohio State's Sarringhaus outrun him for 474 yards. Sarringhaus caught only 17 aeriels, however.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(P)—Probably the happiest guy in Boston when Holy Cross handed Boston College that licking Saturday was Art Ross. As long as B. C. kept winning on Saturday, Ross' Bruins couldn't get a tumble for their Sunday night hockey victories, but now Art figures the papers will give him some space. First word trickling back from the Chicago baseball meetings is that Branch Rickey has tossed Joe Medwick, Boso Newsom and Schoolboy Rowe on the market.

Headline Headliner

While the football "howl" games still were in the doubtful stage the other day, a Minneapolis Times headline writer summed it up this way: "Apparitions of the Horde and Pass the Invitations."

Shorts and Shells

Wilson Teachers' College of Washington, D. C., which dropped basketball last winter, has decided to put a team on the court this season. According to Bill Benswanger, the Pirates will save transportation by training in California next spring because more Pittsburgh players live near their San Bernardino base than near any other site. The gate of the Tulsa-Arkansas football game was the largest in Tulsa's grid history because Arkansas insisted that prices should be raised to Southwest Conference levels.

Today's Guest Star

Si Burick, Dayton (O.) News: "Billy Hillebrand of Indiana is the highest-ranking student in his journalism class this fall. He's writing a football story for his term paper. But the fellow is smart enough not to want to be a sports writer. He's really taking a pre-law course."

Postman's Paragraph

Clifton E. Wilson of the Moscow Daily Idahoian comes up with a new candidate for the high school winning-streak record. This year Moscow High lost to Pullman, Wash., for the first time in a rivalry that dates back before the First World War. Although early records have been lost, Moscow officials estimate their winning streak lasted more than 25 years.

Service Dept.

Bob (Seton Hall) Davies and Eddie (Notre Dame) Riska, stand-out shooters in last week's All Stars-Oshkosh basketball game at Chicago, will campaign together on the Great Lakes Naval Station court team this winter. Sgt. Greg Mangin, former first-ten tennis star isn't spending any time on the courts at Hunter, Ga., because he's too busy learning to handle a machine gun.

James Is To Play Again for Bucks

CLEVELAND, Dec. 2—(P)—Halfback Tommy James of Massillon, who starred as a "spot runner" Ohio State University's football team this year, will play with the Buckeyes again next year, it seems.

Coach Paul Brown said last night that reports James would enter the army this week were inaccurate.

James, he explained, was authorized by his draft board to enlist so that he could enter the student reserve at Ohio State.

BIG TEN TEAMS LEAD COUNTRY IN SCORING

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(P)—Whether freshmen football players (given 1942 varsity status in many sectors because of the war's manpower demands, increased or decreased the scoring still is open to question although the season is virtually over.

The Associated Press' 21st annual scoring survey, involving 193 teams scattered throughout the country, shows that only two sections showed a gain in the average number of points in a game compared with similar figures of a year ago.

The 1942 records by sections and for the nation:

Schools	Games	Points	Average
Midwest	37	327	8.84
South	32	301	9.41

Farmerettes Turn On To Win 1 Game

Craig's high stepping Air Steppers swamped the Gradale Betas in making a clean sweep of their bowling match in the Ladies League Tuesday night on the Main Street Alleys, but the Farmerettes rose from their place in the league cellar and, with one mighty attack, smote the Montgomery Ward girls in the middle game of their three game series.

The winning game rolled by the Farmerettes was bettered only once during the evening, that when the Air Steppers hit 875 in their second game. Betty Davis' 202 was largely responsible for the Farmerettes' 828. Grace Humphreys of the Air Steppers, however, turned in the evening's high individual score when, getting the range in the second game, she sent the ducks flying for a 232. Daisy Graves, a team mate, hung up an even 200 in the same game.

Night Games In Baseball Held Down

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—(P)—The National League took a stand today against any increase in night baseball, kept its player limit at 25 men for each club and voted for standardization of its official ball.

The senior circuit, which allowed 14 night games last year, agreed it would permit only seven next season unless this stand is overruled at the joint meeting with American League and Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis Thursday.

Frick also revealed that the Cincinnati Reds had announced in the meeting that no matter how many night games other teams might play, they would have only seven at home in 1943.

The question of an official wartime baseball was taken up because of a rubber and cork shortage. Both leagues would use reprocessed materials, but the National asked a rubber core while the American voted for a cork center.

The majors, however, were in agreement on these subjects:

1. To hold the 1943 All Star game at Philadelphia's Shibe Park July 7 with the American League as the home team and proceeds going to baseball's "ball and bat" fund.
2. To maintain the present player limit of 25 for each club.
3. To extend the present major-minor league agreement for another year.

Bloomington-Madison Mills Game May Go Long Way Toward Deciding Fayette County Basketball Chase

The first game of the season, rather than the last, may tell the basketball story in which the four high schools in Fayette County take the leading roles.

The Millers of Madison Mills, who have played four games already and won them all, two by substantial margins, will meet the also undefeated Bloomington basketeers on Madison Mills High School floor next Friday night. This is the game that may decide the county champion.

The Bloomington outfit has met and beaten soundly three teams in the pre-league schedule play.

Unless all signs fail, the gymnasium will be packed with howling partisans for both teams for this game. The prognosticators are saying right out loud that these teams not only appear as a toss-up for their meeting Friday night but also that they have all the earmarks of being the outstanding cage crews of the county this year.

Jeffersonville's quintet romped off with the county crown last year, but the sensational sharpshooter, Carl Cramer, around whom the offense was built, will not be there to drop 'em in with such amazing regularity when the boys take the floor this year.

Incidentally, county high school basketball will have a little different complexion this season. Junior High teams will take the place of the old fashioned Reserve teams. The Junior High outfits are to be made up of boys in the seventh and eighth grades. They have a schedule just as do the varsity teams and the competition is just as keen. The schedules have been drawn up so that varsity and junior teams play the same opponents on the same dates. As a rule the juniors, like their predecessors, the reserves, will open the evening's festivities with the varsity games coming

Neal Helfrich Bakes Bread And Plays Basketball for Uncle Sam's Soldiers Now

Neal Helfrich today is baking bread "somewhere in the Canal Zone" for his buddies in Uncle Sam's army instead of cutting meat at the Helfrich Market up on Rose Avenue for his customers in Washington C. H., but he is still playing basketball.

Neal, one of the several Helfrich brothers and son of Mike Helfrich who became so widely known as host at the Rathskeller near New Holland and sponsor of semi-pro baseball teams, has been one of the army's technical sergeants since he put on his uniform last March. Two months later, his letters back home stopped suddenly. Then, a short time later, they started coming again, but the subject matter was not the same. After so long a time, the hazy descriptions and stories of events were fitted into a pattern that looked very much like the Canal Zone.

He used to play baseball with the New Holland team and on the numerous aggregations—and they did a good job of mopping up nearly all the opposition that came their way—sponsored by his father. But if he made a name for himself in baseball, he made another one just as big in basketball. And what's more, he is not permitting it to do any fadeout while he's in the army.

Here's a newspaper clipping he sent in his last letter: "Soldiers at the Post of (deleted by censor) were once again treated to as fine a game as has been seen on the Post since the season began Tuesday night in the Post gymnasium."

"Once again, two evenly matched, highly geared fighting teams pitted skill and luck to find out which team would take the coveted Post Championship. The White-Shirts in the first game of the playoffs, merged victorious in the last minute of play thus duplicating the first game of the play-offs in scores and thrill galore."

"Helfrich led the White-Shirts to victory with his inspired playing. In the 3rd and 4th quarters, Helfrich with the splendid help of his team-mates, piled up an 8 point lead virtually assuring them of an easy victory; but a rejuvenated Green-Shirt team behind the great playing of Baumgartner and Ciferelli pulled up to within 2 points of the tiring White-Shirt team. The last few seconds of play provided a typical Merrill's setting as the Green-Shirts, with the opportunity to tie up the game failed as the game ended."

transport planes to supply his forces as the Russians blocked rail and road communications.
Red army headquarters reported the destruction of 50 trimotored German Junkers.
Fresh Red army gains were reported on both the Stalingrad and Moscow fronts. More than 6,000 Germans were listed as killed in the day's fighting.
Soviet troops battling their way down the east bank of the Don, in a vast wheeling operation to squeeze the Germans back against the bayonets of the Stalingrad garrison, were reported to have reached strong Nazi defenses.
In North Africa, Axis armies caught in a gigantic Allied "vice" pressing from east and west, were strictly on the defensive.
On the eastern flank, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British 8th Army opened up its big guns in a preliminary assault on the Germans entrenched in the El Aghella defile, a narrow corridor at the base of the Gulf of Sirte, and dispatches from Cairo indicated that the west-bound offensive was about to start anew.
On the western flank, a broadcast from American-occupied Morocco said Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's British 1st Army, strongly supported by American mobile forces, was now in contact with "the nucleus of enemy resistance" in the Bizerte-Tunis zone.
Approximately 20,000 Axis combat troops, as well as thousands of specialists and helpers, were solidly entrenched behind mine fields in the northern coastal region of Tunisia where the warriors of Scipio Africanus battled the Carthaginians many centuries ago.

AXIS FORCES TRAPPED IN RUSSIA AND TUNISIA; DARLAN GRABS POWER

Sfax is 160 miles south of Tunis and Gabes is 80 miles farther south along the coast. Tripoli is about 200 miles farther to the southeast along the coast.
Both Sfax and Gabes have been subjected to daylight aerial attacks and the fighting apparently has reached a scope and intensity not previously matched in Tunisia.

As the fighting raged toward a climax, Admiral Jean Darlan, former Vichy defense head now cooperating with the Allies, assumed the powers of Chief of State in French Africa "as the representative of Marshal Petain who at present is a prisoner," the Morocco radio announced last night.

Darlan's action came after he had conferred with Gen. Auguste Nogues, governor general in French Morocco, and Pierre Boisson, governor general in French West Africa.

Fighting French quarters in London, having watched Darlan's activities in North Africa with suspicion, said the former Vichy official apparently was attempting to strengthen his political position.

Dispatches from North Africa said Hitler was frantically rushing reinforcements to Tunisia by sea and air in an attempt to stave off threatening disaster, even as American and French troops severed the coastal road some 200 miles south of Tunis, the capital.

On the Russian front, Soviet dispatches reported that Hitler was pulling troops from Stalingrad to bolster other German forces now all but trapped and threatened with annihilation on the snow-covered steppes between the Don and Volga rivers.

The precariousness of the German siege armies was emphasized by Soviet reports that Hitler was now resorting to giant States," Il Duce went on.

"This war monger forgot his repeated promises to American mothers not to allow any American blood to be spilled in Europe."
"It is logical that Japan did not wait for an American attack but chose the right time for starting it."
"Where are the American prophets who predicted that Japan would be liquidated in two or three weeks?"
Mussolini said that Italian casualties in RAF bombings and British bombardments of Italy from the sea were 1,876 killed and 3,332 injured.
In the first 30 months of the war he said the Italian navy lost 172 ships, totaling 227,000 tons.
The total Italian dead for the same period, were given as: Army, Navy and Air Force, 94,182.
Il Duce said 232,700 Italians were prisoners of the enemy, of which 215,000 were from the Italian army.
Mussolini conceded that Italy's entrance into the war stabbed France in the back—but said she deserved it.
"Let us admit," he said, "that we stabbed France in the back—but this is only one stab in the back compared to a hundred stabs France has made on Italy in history. France always has been arrogant."
Il Duce declared that "Japan's intervention is the absolute guarantee of Axis victory" and he added: "Japan is invincible."

U. S. NAVY STRONGER THAN BEFORE START OF WAR, SAYS KNOX

prevented a second front in Europe by taking the offensive in the Solomons, on the very day our great armada was in mid-ocean on the way to North Africa. And that was after months of careful, patient preparation."

Acknowledging that in the war effort America had displayed "timidity, hesitancy, inefficiency, confusion, waste and all the other things the critics say," Knox declared that in contrast:

"We have converted the greatest peaceful industrial plant into the greatest arsenal of all time."

"We have maintained our freedoms and our solvency at home."

"We have an army in the south Pacific; an army in Britain and an army in Africa and we equipped them."

"We have a navy on all the seas and it has no apologies for its performance to date."

"We have mounted offensives in two hemispheres."

"And the first anniversary of the war is still to come," he added. "Yes, I think as long as we do not overlook our failures there is nothing very immoral about taking a little comfort from our successes. I have said it before and I will again risk the assertion that, in view of the complexities and the enormity of the task, to date this has been America's best run war."

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—(P)—Continuing their recent broad advance, grain prices today rose 1 to almost 2 cents a bushel, with rye futures again in the lead.

Wheat, corn and rye quotations were around top levels for the past two months in some cases. Cash corn was the highest in more than 3 months.

Buying came from mills, industrial users of corn and dealers covering previous short sales in the rye pit. Record farm and industrial consumption of corn and belief that war developments may lead to revived export traffic in domestic grains stimulated buying. Colder weather also was a factor while some dealers thought the flour ceiling might be revised upward.

Wheat closed 1/4-1 1/2 cents higher than yesterday, December 1.26 1/2, May 1.31 1/4-3/8; corn 1 1/4 higher, December 86 1/2-3/4, May 91 1/2; oats 1/4-1/2 up; rye 1 1/2-2c higher; soybeans 1/2-1 1/4c lower.

Mill buying of wheat expanded materially in late dealings and flour business was reported active in some markets. Large eastern chain bakers, small independent users and jobbers as well as government agencies were reported in the market for about 500,000 barrels of flour.

of navy cited the nation's 50,000 men killed and missing since Pearl Harbor, the "staggering total" of $46,000,000,000 spent on munitions and war construction this year, and predicted that the bill for 1943 would be more than $70,000,000,000.

"And we might as well face the hard fact right now," he said, "that we have a tough period directly ahead of us in the Atlantic."

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR SYNTHETIC RUBBER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(P)—All sites have been chosen and the necessary money allocated for plants to produce 800,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually, Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said today.

He added that he did not know where the plants were to be located nor in what volume.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(P)—Stocks were generally steady today with steels and farm machinery shares drawing principal benefits from a limited buying interest.

Although plus marks were fairly numerous the gains were slim in most cases and some specialties dropped a point or so on tax selling.

Bonds were narrow and uneven and commodities a shade better.

BRIEF BLIZZARD HITS COUNTY; WORST IN YEARS

Blinding Snow Is Whipped By Strong Wind Just At Daylight

Although it lasted only a quarter of an hour, the worst blizzard in recent years raged over the community shortly after 8 A. M. Wednesday.

The heavy snowfall was whipped into a swirling, blinding mass by a stiff wind, and semi-darkness reigned, so that traffic was almost halted.

Many automobiles and trucks, unable to see 25 feet ahead, simply were stopped where they were and drivers trusted to luck that other blinded motorists would not crash into them.

Several automobiles, their drivers blinded, were halted just in time to prevent crashing into curbs, other cars, or sliding into ditches at the roadside.

Traffic lights were blotted out beyond a distance of 75 feet while the blizzard was at its worst.

The blinding blizzard which swept in several years ago, bringing 18 below zero with it and darkness of twilight in mid-afternoon, was vividly recalled here, although the snowfall was even heavier than at that time during the brief space it lasted Wednesday morning.

Snow started falling early and continued well into the day, so that by 10 o'clock a two inch blizzard had fallen.

While there was a pronounced drop in temperature over night, it was not a severe cold.

As the snow continued and miniature blizzards occurred at intervals, whipping the snow badly, the State Highway Department sent out five snow plows to keep the highways clear of drifts.

In some spots drifts were piled up along the roads in remarkable short time.

As the day advanced the strong winds shifted to the north and temperatures dropped to around the zero mark, with indications that it would bring sub-zero weather for the night.

The sudden cold wave caught people unprepared to a large extent and automobiles were frozen up. There was a general rush for additional anti-freeze for radiators.

Drifts were reported on some highways, but for the most part the roads were free.

ALL OHIO SHIVERS
COLUMBUS, Dec. 2.—(P)—A cold wave moved into Ohio today and temperatures in many sections of the state will fall below zero tonight, the Weather Bureau announced.

Temperatures at noon in Columbus were nine above zero, a drop of 15 degrees in five hours.

Only in the eastern section of the state may the mercury remain above the zero mark, the bureau reported.

Today's cold snap was the coldest of the season in Ohio.

Snow fell in many sections and three persons in Columbus were injured in falls on icy pavements.

The cold wave snapped several trolley lines and high tension lines in Columbus. Trolley car traffic from one section of the city was tied up a half hour.

Patrolman Herman Beck was trapped in his police cruiser when a high tension wire fell on the car. He used his two-way radio to summon help.

DOGS WILL WEAR PLASTIC TAGS

New Tags for 1943 Will Be Placed on Sale in Short Time

Dogs will wear plastic tags instead of the usual metal tags during the coming year, and these will go on sale at the county auditor's office as soon as the county commissioners fix the rates for dog licenses during 1943.

It is expected that an early meeting of the county commissioners will check the sheep claims and then determine the rates to be charged for dog licenses in 1943.

So far this year 2,657 dogs have been licensed in Fayette County, compared with around 1350 last year, or about 700 more than last year.

It is expected the increased amount of income from the dog and kennel fund will do much toward wiping out a deficit in the fund.

CIVIL DEFENSE SET-UP TO GET TEST ON MONDAY

Volunteers All To Be at Posts When Sirens Sound—Part Of Statewide Plan

The Washington C. H. Civilian Defense Council today was polishing up its plans for its first test of mobilization for an air raid alarm, Edwin Ducey, the city manager and chairman of the council, said after he had received notice from state OGD headquarters that a statewide test would be made next Monday, the anniversary of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japs that plunged the country into war.

Ducey explained that the test would not interfere to any great extent with the daily routine and that the general public would not be materially effected as in a full scale air raid alarm or blackout test.

The forthcoming test, he said, was primarily for "all Civilian Defense Volunteers—with the exception of war workers."

All air raid sirens are to be sounded "promptly at 12:25 P. M." Ducey declared, explaining that this would come "during the noon hour" for most persons and would not interfere with their work. The test, he said, was not expected to last "more than 10 minutes." He made it plain that under present plans there would be no interruption of traffic.

When the sirens are sounded, all air raid wardens, fire watchers, auxiliary police and firemen, messengers, utility and road repair crews, members of the central control staff and all others who have volunteered and been given assignments in the civilian defense set-up here, are to go to their posts and remain there until a check has been made and the test completed, the chief declared.

Outline of the plans for making the test have been finished, it was indicated, and the next few days will be used for smoothing out any rough spots that can be uncovered before the actual test mobilization of the volunteers is held.

Spanish Morocco, about the size of Connecticut and New Hampshire combined, has a population of 800,000.

FEDERAL AGENT TO COME HERE

RFC Representative To Check Oil Pipe Line Work In State

Within the next few days a representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which is financing the trans-country pipe line through this community, will arrive in Washington C. H. to check the work as it progresses through this part of Ohio.

How long the Federal agent will remain here is not known, but he is one of many R. F. C. agents who are on the job to look after the government's interests while the 1,383 mile oil line is being built and placed in operation.

The right-of-way men here have been connected with various oil companies for years, and have been "loaned" for the government sponsored project which carries the line through Fayette County.

It is understood that the cost of the pipe line project will reach around $87,000,000.
